

I would like to coment on wireless number portability. Please allow wireless number portability.

We need competition in the wireless industry and not being able to take your number with you limits you on changing to a company that will meet your needs. Competition is what makes this country work and limiting it would only help the companies in position right now, not force the bad ones to provide better service or go out of business. By not allowing wireless portability or putting it off again to a later date is really telling the public that you only care about the company's bottom line, not the consumer.

You have allowed this before when HAM radio operator and CB in cars were allowed to continue to use their names. Now instead of names, we are using numbers. Sept 11 showed how people were able to connect to people in desperate situations by using cell phones. Being able to keep a number makes life simple for people, and no undo cost to the wireless companies. Thanks you.
